

It was so hot as we set off up the road, the wheel on Papa's barrow squeaking at every turn. Papa sold almost everything to buy us passage to Australia from London, but I'm so happy he kept Mama's gold locket.

